THE Hamilton Spectator of Nov. 4th has a special trade edition profusely and beautifully illustrated. This edition differs from most of the so-called descriptive editions of newspapers in that the subjects of illustration are selected with a view to their bearing on the importance of the place and not on account of the number of dollars per inch space paid for by the owners of the property illustrated.

THE recent break in the price of coal delivered to the consumer to $2.00 per ton is evidence that there certainly is no coal famine in Edmonton this winter. While coal cannot be too cheap to suit the consumer in the winter time there are few to say that $2.00 is not cheap enough. It is to be hoped that the miners will be able to make it pay at that price for if they cannot the drop is only a fore runner of a greater rise, for some will be squeezed out and the remaining ones will combine.

A PARTY of settlers and prospectors arrived on Monday's train from the vicinity of Crookston, Minnesota. They are Ed. LaBerge, John Harkmann, Dan. Flynn, M. Flynn, Chas. Miller, Hercule Plante, Jas. Flynn and Miller have gone to Beaver Lake to look up locations.

MONDAY's train left Calgary on time, but arrived at Edmonton two and a half hours late. The delay was caused by the train being required to unload fence slabs at several points as it went along. To keep passengers sitting in the train two and a half hours longer than necessary, while the train crew lay fence rails seems to be carrying the principle of the general utility of the C. & P. passenger train to an extreme. Especially in view of the fact that a freight was sent up only a few days before which might have done the work.

THE Edmonton Electric Light Co. are about to replace their present dynamo with one having a capacity of twelve hundred lights. The new dynamo left Montreal yesterday. The new dynamo will not be run to its full capacity by the present power of the company but it will enable the company to carry from 200 to 250 more lights at present, raising the total number of lights to about 550. They are also replacing the No. 10 wire now in use to convey the current along the streets with much larger wire No. 4 and re-arranging the poles so that they will stand at the edge of the sidewalk and so not interfere with travel either on the streets or the sidewalks.

A LETTER has been received by S. D. Malkins from W. R. Lloyd who left Edmonton for the Yukon some years ago. The letter is dated Forty Mile Creek, Aug. 12th, 1893. The letter speaks of a new creek found last year by Mr. Lloyd and which he calls Miller Creek, his innately modestly having prevented him from allowing it to be called Lloyd's creek. Some of the miners have made from $2,000 to $6,000 this summer on that creek. Mr. Lloyd's own claim like many others is hard to open and he did not expect much return from it during the current season. He could sell it for $2,000 but (like most other holders of mining property when they get a good offer) thought it was worth more and would not sell. The letter concludes: "We have another store here, a Chicago firm, so there is no fear of staying any more. It is possible I'll be out next summer, but cannot say for sure. Give my respects to the boys."

WINNIPEG Saturday Night announces editorially that it has secured for its Christmas number a series of sketches of the Canadian voyageurs on the Nile expedition of 1884 from Charles Lewis Shaw, which it specifically pledges its word "is equal in humor to anything Mark Twain or Rudyard Kipling ever wrote. It is a masterpiece and the most notable piece of humor ever written in Canada. The story is also rich in description, tragedy and eloquence. It is sure to convulse the country with laughter and create a sensation such as no other series of articles has done." The many residents of Edmonton who remember Mr. Shaw with feelings of regret or pleasure, can readily believe all that Saturday Night has to say in praise of his Nile experiences. That his descriptions will be vivid and his writing humorous everyone who knows him will expect. Large orders for the Christmas number of Saturday Night may be expected from Edmonton.

HARRY DIX, well-known in Edmonton,

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOVEMBER 10th, 1893.

MAKING A FARM.

Now that the country around Edmonton is settling up rapidly and the choice locations within easy reach of town are pretty well picked over as far free homesteads are concerned, the question of the desirability of the brush land for making a farm becomes of great importance. There is a great deal of open land in the Edmonton district, practically clear prairie, which can be broken with one yoke of oxen or a single team of horses. There is also a great deal of timbered land, on which the trees grow as thickly and nearly as large as in Ontario, the clearing of which would be by almost the same methods as the bush land of Ontario, with the exception that the poplar stumps would not rot very much sooner than the beech and maple stumps there.
But besides the clear prairie and the heavy timber there is a great deal of brushy land, to which most people who desire to take up a farm very strongly object as being difficult and costly to bring under cultivation. Some even consider it more objectionable than the timber, for one reason because it has no value as the large timber has, and for another because it is chiefly gray willow and therefore will not rot out at the root when cut down as readily as the large poplar timber will.
It is scarcely necessary to remark that the land upon which the brush grows is fully equal in quality to the clear prairie; indeed it is admitted to generally have advantages over clear prairie, and yet people will reject a quarter section that has a proportion of brush on it no matter how well situated it is otherwise merely on account of the extra expense of bringing it under cultivation. Of course it must be admitted that it is more expensive to bring such land under cultivation rather than clear prairie; but the extra expense is not so much greater if the matter is handled right and if proper appliances are available. The way the settler usually figures is this: 160 acres of clear prairie will cost $3 to $4 an acre to break. The same area of brush land will cost me $6 to $10 and acre to break, therefore a brushy claim would cost me from $300 to $1,000 more than a clear claim, and I cannot afford to pay the difference. So he goes twenty or thirty or perhaps fifty miles from town or market to get 160 acres of clear prairie. Now the figuring given above is wrong in several points. In the first place the settler who is going into mixed farming, as he will in this part of the country, does not need to and does not want to break up the whole of his farm at once. Instead of wishing to break 160 acres, 40 or perhaps 80 acres would be nearer the mark, so that the nominal first cost is reduced by one half or three fourths at the very beginning. Then as to the actual cost of getting the land ready for crop. The clear prairie is plowed not once but twice, before a crop is put in, that is it is broken and cross ploughed the first season, so that it costs not less than $5 and perhaps $7 or $8 an acre before it is ready for crop. In the case of brush land—and the word brush covers all growth up to three inches in thickness and even more—the brush is first cut down, piled and burned. This can be done very late in the fall before the snow gets deep, when other work is not rushing. Of course it may be done in the spring also and then would be more expensive. In June two yoke of cattle on a brush plow, or at most three yoke if the brush be heavy, a man holding the plow and a boy driving, will turn over as much land in a day as a man and good team will do on clear prairie, and make a much better job than can be done where there is any willow at all with a common breaker. The reason is that the breaker skimming along just under the roots of the grass, runs square into any root that may be in the ground and is thrown out by it as it has so little hold on the ground, while the brush breaker goes so deep as to pass under all but the smaller roots which it cuts easily without being displaced, and taking a wide furrow turns the land completely upside down, leaving a flat surface of loose earth ready for the seed and harrow in the spring.

The one plowing with the brush plow costs little more than the two plowings with the prairie breaker, and really leaves the land in better condition for the first crop. Besides everyone knows that the thin sod skimmed off by the prairie breaker and cut up by the cross plow is apt to become dry and spongy and to remain in that state for years.
On the contrary the sod turned flat down by the brush breaker remains undisturbed and rots away completely.
If the first year of its being turned down is particularly dry and it has not rotted when the time for putting in the second crop has arrived it may be left undisturbed for another year and the seed merely harrowed in, with every assurance of a good return. At the end of three years cultivation it will be found that the brush land broken with the brush breaker will be in as good or better condition and have cost little if any more than the clear prairie land broken by the common breaker.
Of course the farmer who undertakes to bring a piece of brush land under cultivation with a single team and a grub hoe has a very heavy contract on his hands, but the man who has two or three yoke of good oxen need never pass a brushy claim on account of the extra expense of bringing it under cultivation.

Winnipeg Tribune: "It is encouraging to see in many of our exchanges a change from the old mania for indiscriminate immigration; they are evidently coming to understand that increased population is a good thing only so far as it is useful in attaining certain desirable ends. The idea that we must have immigration, good immigration if we can get it, but at any rate immigration of some sort, is, we are thankful to say, losing its hold in the country. No doubt, other things being equal, the more immigrants we can get the better it will be; but when the immigrants are not good material to build a community with the other things are not equal. Everyone wants all the immigrants we can get because they are a good thing for the country in many ways, but unsuitable immigrants are a good thing for no one but railway and steamship companies and land speculators; for the rest of the people they are a burden and an infliction." While this is all true it is no reason for relaxing effort towards securing an increase of desirable population.

Advocate for the Plaintiff.

LEDC.

On Monday the 6th inst. the north bound train struck and killed a horse the property of William Foster, three miles north of the station on the owner's land. This makes the second beast killed within the last year. The circumstances connected with this accident seem to give rise to a diversity of opinions, as some think the train struck the animal while others seem to be under the impression that it met with its death while endeavoring to board the train from the rear. However, owing to the usual speed of this particular train, the latter opinion seems the most likely, and the cow catcher should be on the other end so as to prevent cattle from entering the coach and disturbing the passengers from their silent slumber. As to whether Mr. Foster will receive compensation for the loss I am not prepared to say. Of course if he gets justice he gets compensation. But justice is considered a thing of the past just now. But this I am prepared to say, that the owner of the first animal killed, after a year's sending for indemnity, recently received from a certain C.P.R. official a written offer of $5.00. If this company is allowed to slaughter settlers stock along the line without paying the requisite damage, together with their exorbitant freight and passenger rates and their incommensurate train service, the only remedy I see for the white man is to at once submit to the inevitable and pick up his bed and walk in search of some foreign clime.

Bidding adieu to monopoly And away with the frost, I'll sing and be happy Though my homestead is lost.

I'll sing and be merry Like the tourist on the Rhine, I'll rest while I am weary Like the train on the C. & E. line.

(Signed) BRITT.

The C.P.R. Company are introducing a system of heating their cars with steam direct from the engine, thereby doing away with the dangerous necessity of a stove in each car.

The Matabele in Mashona land are not so badly beaten as was at first reported. On November 1st they attacked the wagon train of Major Adams column, and were only driven off after a sharp fight with a loss of 40 killed.

The Lethbridge News does not think the conservative cause will gain much from the visit of Messrs. Foster and Angers to the Northwest, on account of their evident desire to make the farmers believe that the tariff is not burdensome.

Winnipeg Tribune: Thirty-five French immigrants arrived by the east train this morning. They will locate in Rathwell, Treherne and Saskatoon, one family leaving for the latter place by this morning's train. Two of the families have decided to take up their residence in Winnipeg.

Free Press: J. F. Franklin, T. Pitt and W. H. Dempster, English farm delegates, passed through the city yesterday on their way home from visiting the Northwest. In an interview they declared that Ontario was a magnificent field for men who have capital and could be rapidly filled up with this class, while for men who desired freeholds for which they could never hope in England, the Northwest was the haven for which they had been looking.

The N.W.T. exhibit in the agricultural building, in charge of Stephen Robertson, assistant to Commissioner Perley, has made Western Canada known to thousands of Americans. It was so beautifully arranged, so well cared for, that visitors were compelled almost to stop and inspect it thoroughly. The money spent in this court was well spent, and the management being competent to a high degree everything connected with it reflected credit upon the Dominion.—Chicago Canadian American.

Free Press on the Winnipeg election: If the elections of Winnipeg are in favor of continuing the policy of protection, with the inevitable consequence of government by combats, and believe that under it the country has developed, as it should have done, bringing prosperity to the farmers and traders, they will express their opinion by electing Mr. Campbell. If, on the other hand, they believe that living is made costly, trade hampered, the farming community impoverished and development retarded, by the policy which Sir John Thompson at Montreal and Mr. Foster at Fredericton have declared it their intention to maintain, then they will voice that belief by voting for Mr. Martin. There can be no confusion in the mind of any intelligent man; it is the continuance of the N.P. versus Tariff Reform.

The reports of C. M. Lampton & Co's fur sales held in London, England, from October 30th to November 1st show the following reductions in prices compared with those realized in March last: black bear 10 per cent, brown bear 25, grizzly bear 20, beaver 10, grey fox 40, red fox 12, lynx 22, martens 5, mink 30, skunk 10, wolf 27, wolverine 25. Muskrat and otter are the same as in March last. Jas. McMillan & Co., fur dealers of Minneapolis, on the results of the sales remark as follows: The sales realized about as was expected and do not indicate a very flattering market. The hard times in this country had a good deal to do with the prices of fur in London, because while it may not be generally known, this country buys a great many American furs in London. Furs will have to be bought on a good deal lower basis than last year, and when shippers get prices from one firm two or three times as high as are offered by other responsible firms, they want to be aware of such concerns.

The MacLeod Gazette says that the farmers in that vicinity do not produce enough butter and eggs to supply the local market.

Calgary Tribune: Owing to the existence of the very contagious disease "scab," prevalent in Montana, and the misfortune that the same disease has been brought into this country by sheep purchased in that territory, through carelessness and lack of proper quarantine regulations, several of our neighbors have unfortunately sustained serious loss from the spread of the disease introduced. It is most important that constant care, cleanliness and inspection amongst neighboring flocks should be instituted. It is satisfactory to find that the Canadian Agricultural Company, the largest owners of sheep, not only in the Territories, but in Canada, have set a good example to their neighbors, which it is hoped will be followed, by having their entire flock most carefully examined by the Dominion Deputy Veterinary Inspector before moving into winter quarters. After inspecting over 25,000 head of the company's sheep, the inspector announced them to be absolutely free from any disease whatever, and to use his own words, "They are the cleanest, healthiest and best class of sheep he had ever seen in this country." This must be satisfactory to the company, and certainly to the numerous buyers of their breeding ewes, which have been distributed so extensively both north and south, and an encouragement to the flock owners to follow in the footsteps of the Company, and have their sheep inspected.

roundings up to hour of issue.

graph up to day of issue and any other paper reaching Edmonton.

prietor and therefore always ready and willing to speak out for the good of the town and district.

THE BULLETIN is read more generally throughout the Edmonton district than any other paper.

If you want to do business in the Edmonton district you can reach more of the people with a less expenditure of money through the advertising columns of the BULLETIN than by any other means.

Fair advertising rates charged, and like rates to all parties.

No advertising of a questionable nature admitted if its character is known.

THE BULLETIN Printing office is second to none in the Territories. Only first-class type, machinery and paper employed. Printing of all kinds done promptly, neatly and cheaply. Call and see samples of work, and get prices before ordering your printing elsewhere.

A newspaper is not a producing industry, but if properly conducted it assists and stimulates production and progress more than any other single agency of like cost.
Money spent towards the support of a newspaper is almost entirely spent within the town in which the paper is published and is therefore not lost to the business of the town.

The local newspaper represents the district in which it is published to the outside world.

Support your home paper liberally if it deserves support, so that it can give the best possible impression of your town and district as a field for immigration and investment.

There is big money for a new town in having a live and interesting paper.
